

Keep Your Vision Infront of You

Written by Lillian Chebosi
Monday, 14 September 2015 20:49

Volume 05, Issue 10: Keep Your Vision Infront of You

Where there is no vision people perish. Where there's no vision dreams fade.

Have a vision for your life. How else will you know you have arrived if you don't know how your desired end looks like?

I have come to appreciate that God is not limited by our resources, education, and connections. With God on your side you stand to get much more than you are qualified for. He can do exceedingly, abundantly more than you could ever imagine.

God's dream for your life is bigger than your own dream. If you will stay in faith, God will super-size your dream. He will do exceedingly abundantly above and beyond.

Keep something big infront of you. Don't dream small. You are not inconveniencing God by dreaming big. My dream is that my family will impact millions of children. I don't want to make just a couple of children's lives breathe better; I want to make millions of children's lives breathe better.

Imagine yourself fulfilling your destiny, being a history maker, touching millions of lives.

Put before yourself a picture of how your body will look like when you lose the excess weight, of when you receive your healing, of when you get your promotion, whatever it is.

Put before yourself a picture of your dream house. I have always declared that renting is not my permanent address; that a beautiful, spacious, debt-free house with a complete laundry room is mine. Sounds ambitious, but God told Abraham that whatever he could see, He would give to him. Abraham would possess as far as his eyes could see.

Keep Your Vision Infront of You

Written by Lillian Chebosi

Monday, 14 September 2015 20:49

What have you put before your eyes? What is your dream?

It may not look like it now, but the odds are subject to change. Everything that doesn't line up to what God put on your heart is subject to change. What you keep in front of you, you are moving towards.

Lillian Chebosi