

Volume 06, Issue 07: Unstoppable Love

Still fresh from Valentine 's Day last Sunday with towns painted red, the message was clear, the world is looking for love. It is the day when most of the world is hoping to receive expressions of love.

There's one place where love has been richly offered but not everyone receives it. God has poured out his love, waiting for us to receive and experience it. Unlike the love of people, we don't have to qualify for God's love. His love is undeserved and unmerited.

God pursues us, with power and glory, unstoppable love that never ends. He is unrelenting with passion and mercy for us. When we discover this love, we feel good about ourselves and expect others to treat us with honour. When you are secure in your relationship with the Lord, you don't second guess your worth. You walk with your head high, and in expectation of blessings.

Many of us know Jesus personally but not passionately. We don't really know how much He loves us. May God empower us with inner strength and power to understand how wide, how long, how high, and how deep His love is. That we may really come to know, practically experience for ourselves the love of God which far surpasses mere knowledge.

One of the best things we can set out for this year is to have an encounter with the love of God. That God would give us a passion for his presence, to set our hearts on pursuing Him with all we are and all we have.

Don't settle for knowing God loves you because the Bible tells you so. Press in to know this love for yourself. May our desire be to fall radically in love with Jesus, so in love in Him to not be able to go one moment in our day without Him, without His presence, without yielding our hearts to Him.

Falling in love with Jesus is the best thing we'll ever do. Have a love affair with Jesus. Take time to love on the Lord and to experience his love. Spend time with him every other day. Enjoy your walk with the Lord. Be not ashamed of loving Jesus. Make His presence the primary pursuit of your life.
